DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yavid et al.

U.S. Patent 6,802,451.

See Figures 1 through 3, and column 6, lines 26 through 53, for example, wherein a portable instrument 400 that functions by means of projection from behind is taught. All of Figures 1-5 are further discussed beginning in column 8, line 12 and continuing through column 11 with regard to varying embodiments.

Claim 5 sets forth: "A rear-type projector comprising:

a laser beam source that outputs a laser beam that is modulated based on an image signal (See laser beam 422, modulation is described with respect to Figure 4.);

a scanning unit that scans the laser beam within a predetermined surface (See X-scan movable mirror 424 and Y-scan movable mirror 428.);

a screen to which the laser beam is projected from a backside of the screen (Screen 408);

a screen monitoring unit that receives light reflected from the screen (See either stationary bounce mirror 426 or the color filter described in column 8, line 25.); and a beam light supply stopping unit that controls the laser beam source so as to stop output of the laser beam based on an output of the screen monitoring unit

(Consider column 8, lines 11 through 28. The device is powered on and off depending on the state of the housing position being open or closed.); and a housing that covers an optical path from the laser beam source to the backside of the screen (See clamshell housing parts 402, 404.).”

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yavid et al. U.S. Patent 6,832,724 B2 teaches an electro-optical assembly for image projection, especially in portable instruments.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
